CONGRESS ASKED TO AID ISRAEL

Economy Campaign Slows Down

Interior Fund Is Given Boost

WASHINGTON, May 26—The GOP economy drive came to a virtual halt today as the House appropriations committee voted to increase Interior department funds by almost $143 million.

The committee reported out an annual supply bill providing $405,621,881 of the $459,970,835 requested by the administration for the 1949 fiscal year beginning July 1.

This is in sharp contrast to the action taken last year by the same committee when the GOP economy campaign was in full swing. In 1947 the committee appropriated only $156,538,513 of the $295 million requested by the administration.

Last year's cuts brought rumblings of discontent from the 17 states whose irrigation and reclamation projects, administered under the Interior department, were hard hit and the Senate restored some of the funds.

THE BUREAU of Reclamation, hit the hardest last year, received $226,794,897, a cut of $51,162,753 in the $277,957,650 requested. This was in marked contrast to 1947 when the committee slashed the bureau's budget by 57 percent. Congress subsequently increased the appropriation to $143,125,038.

The committee provided almost $21 million for construction work on reclamation projects out of the $253,101,500 requested by the administration.

The greatest amount, almost $53 million, was allocated to the Interior department.

Fireman Killed As Bus, Engine Crash In City

COLUMBUS, May 26—A fire truck speeding to a blaze at a South Columbus ice cream parlor crashed into a city bus today, killing a veteran fireman, Louis Martin, and injuring nine other persons, one seriously.

Martin's fellow-workers said he was about 57 years old, and had served in the department for at least 25 years.

Police said the fire truck capsize after hitting the bus and rolled into a grocery store on the South side of Columbus. It knocked down two bystanders and injured two firemen.

Officers said the bus driver was pinned behind the steering wheel. Three bus passengers were reported injured. All were taken to St. Francis hospital.

Special Session Of City Council Called By Mayor

Summonses were issued all members of Circleville city council Wednesday morning for a special called session of the panel for 8 p. m. Thursday.

Mayor Thurman I. Miller said the city fathers will be asked to take action on only one matter—formal approval of the repaving of Court street from Pleasant street south to the city limits and to release an appropriation for the project.

Worked in conjunction with the state highway department, the project will provide Court street with a new three-inch top coat.

Joseph Rooney, city service director, said the city's entire share will be $7,000. State engineering estimates received Tuesday showed that the Ohio highway department figures the total cost of the job will run $53,400. Earlier estimates placed total cost in the neighborhood of $35,000.

Military, Technical Help From America Urged By Solons

New Yorker Demands Warships Be Sent To Smash Blockade

WASHINGTON, May 26—Congress was called upon today to authorize American military and technical aid to Israel and demands were made that United States warships smash the Arab blockade of Palestine.

Rep. Javits, (R) N. Y., introduced legislation to amend the Greco-Turkish Aid Act to include Israel and provide for a $100 million loan to the new Jewish state.

Javits said he introduced the bill to implement the loan request made by Chaim Weizmann, provisional president of Israel, and because of the expected Arab rejection of United Nations truce proposals.

The New York congressman's action followed a demand that American war vessels be ordered to Arab-blockaded waters with instructions to enforce the doctrine of freedom of the seas.

41 American Jews interned in Lebanon.

Celler asserted that acceptance of the conditions imposed by the Lebanese government on release of the 41 U. S. citizens were "socks in the jaw" which "this country ought not to take lying down."

Secretary of State George Marshall said the United States is attempting an arrangement with Lebanon on release of the 41 American citizens.

MARSHALL said he could make no additional comment until there are new developments in connection with the U. S.—Lebanon negotiations.

Arabs Fail To Halt Fire

League Gives UN 3 'Conditions'

LAKE SUCCESS, May 26—The Arab League made a counter-offer to the United Nations cease-fire appeal today as the noon deadline passed with hostilities presumably continuing.

An Egyptian delegation spokesman announced shortly before the deadline passed that the Arab League will agree to halt the shooting on the following conditions:

1. Stop arming the Haganah.
2. No recognition of the Jewish state.
3. Restrict immigration.

The formal answer from the seven states of the Arab League, a joint statement, was sent to Syrian Representative Faris el Khouri for presentation to the Security Council.

The passing of the deadline was marked by an announcement from the spokesman of Israel that a new cease-fire order has been issued to all commanders on all fronts of the Haganah.

Bevin Admits 37 British Officers Now Aid Arabs

LONDON, May 26—Foreign Secretary Bevin admitted today that 37 British officers are serving with the Arab Legion but denied that any are participating in the Jerusalem fighting.

Bevin also disclosed that 13 civilians are under contract to the Trans-Jordan government.

He told the House of Commons that "two persons" had been involved in Arab-Jewish hostilities but now have been withdrawn.

The foreign secretary also said he "understood" that one British officer also had been involved in the bloody fighting since May 15, when the British mandate ended.

Bevin, pressed hard by questioners, specifically denied that British officers are directing artillery fire on Jerusalem. He said too that there are no British officers serving with the Arab Legion in its assault on the old walled city of Jerusalem.

Food Prices To Stay Up

Little Hope Seen For Early Decline

WASHINGTON, May 26—House members were given little hope today that their food dollars will stretch any further in the remaining months of 1948 than in the current period of bloated prices.

The Agriculture department, in a review of the national food situation, said that the general business boom and fat consumer pocketbooks are likely to prevent any major drop in food costs in the immediate future. The department declared:

"Among the influences that will tend to maintain economic activity in this country are the recent federal income tax reduction which may add as much as $5 billion to the spendable income of consumers this year."

The department predicted that other factors which will help to support prices are the $6.1 billion authorization for foreign aid and prospects for greater expenditures for national defense.

"WITH A continued high level of economic activity in prospect, no sharp decline in retail food prices is likely in 1948. Some seasonal declines in flush production periods are to be expected."

For 1948 as a whole, the report forecast that food consumption per person will be slightly lower than last year but still about 12 percent above the pre-war average.

Finn Cops Out To Aid Workers

HELSINKI, May 26—Finnish President Juho Paasikivi today ordered armed police to protect non-striking workers who are abstaining from Communist-led walkouts.

Communist spokesmen have claimed that 100,000 persons are on strike throughout Finland.

Police details stood guard around government buildings amid reports that the cabinet was considering a firmer stand against the Communist-controlled People's Democratic Party.

The Finnish cabinet will meet again today in an effort to find a successor to Communist Interior Minister Yrjö Leino, whose dismissal touched off the strike wave.

The walkouts appear to be centered in Finnish ports, but the Communists have asserted that factories in Helsinki, Urku, Lahti and Tampere are also strike-bound.

PUMPKIN WON'T SHRINK HERE

Pumpkin Pie To Bring Nickel Despite Uptrend In Inflation

Officials of Circleville Pumpkin Show, Inc., are flaunting all government warnings of continued inflation by announcing that the 1948 show will, as in years past, offer pumpkin pie for a nickel.

Officials who are heading the show, Tuesday night shrugged off a recent report made by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics which stated the cost of living had risen in April to an all-time high.

Said the Pumpkin Show sponsors: "Shucks, we still can offer a nice slab of pumpkin pie for five cents."

They passed a resolution to that effect and come more inflation or not, visitors to Circleville next October will be invited to sit down in the pumpkin pie and coffee booth and get a serving of old-fashioned pumpkin pie for a jinyet.

There was no quibbling as the resolution was adopted. All Pumpkin Show officials were in agreement that no matter how much Uncle Sam's dollar might shrink, a five-cent piece would be all that would be required for the traditional pumpkin pie.

Nationalization Of Rails Shunned By Government

WASHINGTON, May 26—The White House said flatly today that no consideration is being given to nationalization of the railroads as proposed by rail unions.

At the same time, other administration sources gave the cold shoulder to demands from the same sources for negotiation of a government wage agreement with the three brotherhoods whose recent strike threat forced federal seizure of the railroads.

White House Secretary Charles G. Ross was asked: "Is the White House giving consideration to the nationalization of the railroads?" He replied emphatically: "No."

Officials asserted that unless the brotherhoods and private management are able to agree on a new contract in the next 48 hours the government will have to seek a permanent anti-strike (Continued on Page Two)

Virden Cancels Resignation

WASHINGTON, May 26—John C. Virden, top government official who resigned last week because his daughter works for the Soviet news agency, Tass, today withdrew his resignation.

Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer said Virden agreed to remain as director of the department's office of industry cooperation after President Truman expressed his "unshakable" faith in the official's loyalty. Demands also were made in Congress that Virden remain at his post.

Virden submitted his resignation to spare the government "embarrassment" over his daughter's employment by Tass.

Turkey Dinners To Cost Plenty

WASHINGTON, May 26—Agriculture department said today that Thanksgiving and Christmas turkeys are going to make a bigger hole in the food budget this year.

A report on poultry prices said: "Turkey supplies for the 1948 holiday season will be the lowest in a decade. Retail prices are likely to set a new record and be at least 10 percent higher than in 1947."

Big 3 Parley Asked By Paris

PARIS, May 26—Top level French foreign officials urged today a meeting in Washington of foreign ministers of the Big Three Western powers to break the deadlock over Anglo-American plans for political and economic development of Western Germany.

Authoritative sources say French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault considers that the issues involved are of such importance that they should be discussed only by the highest officials.

The deadlock was reached at the recent London conference and the French feel that the issues are too important for mere "experts" to settle.

Bidault feels that they should be talked over in a conference including British Foreign Secretary Bevin, Secretary of State Marshall and himself. He is willing to proceed to Washington immediately if Marshall and Bevin are agreeable.

Watered-Down Molotovs Listed In Panel Report

WASHINGTON, May 26—Congress made public today the names and records of 506 world Communist leaders operating outside the Soviet Union.

They were described as the "watered-down Molotovs" who fight ruthlessly, flexibly and patiently for the world revolution which is the ultimate goal of Communism.

The list covers the eastern hemisphere, including the nations participating in the European Recovery Program, and China, Japan, and Korea.

It contains the names and details the activities of such celebrated followers of the Red gospel as Prof. J. B. S. Haldane of England, Maurice Thorez and Jacques Duclos of France, and Palmiro Togliatti of Italy.

HOWEVER, the massive compilation deals primarily with the "professional revolutionaries" whose names are little known (Continued on Page Two)

It's Dry, Sunny; Watch Corn Grow

The Ohio weather remained dry and sunny Wednesday—a boon to agriculture and transportation.

Morning temperatures again hit record lows for the third successive day in some sections, but there was no report of frost.

Cleveland had a low of 39 degrees, one below the previous record of 40 on May 26, 1889. It was 38 at East Liverpool, Zanesville and Akron and 39 at Findlay. Low for Circleville was 41. Weathermen said that an extensive high pressure area now is centered over Ohio and that it means a continuation of fair conditions are on a slow but certain upgrade and that it will be warmer Thursday.

Anti-Red Bill Given Go-Ahead

WASHINGTON, May 26—Senate GOP leaders said today that because of public pressure they would give the House-passed anti-Communist bill a place on their calendar at the risk of further gumming up the adjournment outlook.

Both Sen. Taft, (R) Ohio, GOP policy chairman, and Sen. Ferguson, (R) Mich., promised floor clearance if some form of the Mundt-Nixon bill is approved by the Senate judiciary committee. The committee starts public hearings tomorrow.

Ferguson, a member of the judiciary and policy committees, called the Communist-control bill "as much a part of our defense as the draft." He declared:

"There is such a demand for some kind of legislation that if we can get a bill in shape it will go through. I anticipate that it will be made an order of business by the policy committee." Policy chairman Taft, who thinks the bill may be "too restrictive," added that "the public wants some kind of anti-Communist legislation."

'Wife For Sale' Is Offered For Only $10,000

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., May 26—A part-time nurse and night club hat check girl today is seeking to marry a "decent-type" man with $10,000 cash to support herself and her two children.

Mrs. Lawler published this advertisement in the "Situations Wanted-Female" column of a Hempstead paper: "Wife for sale. Divorcee, blonde, attractive, wants man to marry and support her and two children. Must be willing and able to make immediate $10,000 cash settlement."

Republicans Toss Debate Gag Into Trade Bill Issue

WASHINGTON, May 26—The House Republican majority today routed angry Democratic opposition and voted to impose a "gag" limiting debate and amendments on GOP legislation revising the reciprocal trade agreements law.

The Republicans limited general debate to three hours. The GOP left the way open for only one Democratic amendment, a motion to extend the law without change for three years instead of the one year provided in the GOP bill. All other amendments were barred.

The measure restricts the President's authority to negotiate new trade agreements and provides in some instances for congressional ratification.

The Republican drive cleared its first obstacle when Democratic opposition to the "gag" procedure was voted down.

The 14-year-old act expires June 12 unless extended, but there are reports President Truman may veto the legislation if it is enacted in its present form.

BOTH SIDES brought up their big guns during the heated debate.

House Minority Leader McCormack, (D) Mass., read a letter from Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, "father" of the reciprocal trade agreements program.

From his sick bed in the naval hospital at Bethesda, Hull expressed a "firm belief that the act should be renewed for three years without crippling amendments."

House Majority Leader Halleck, (R) Ind., derided the Democrats for backing President Truman's request for a three-year extension in the law without change.

Judge Sterling M. Lamb in Pickaway County probate court Tuesday appointed Clyde R. and Leslie Hott as co-executors of the Aaron Keller estate. For the estate of Frank Dum, Emerson C. Dum was appointed administrator.

At one point, Laborite Richard Stokes asked:

"What's the extent of the American support of the Jews?"

Bevin told a questioner that the 37 British officers with the Legion include three "seconded" to the Palestine government.

In military parlance, the "seconding" of an officer means his temporary removal from regular regimental commission for special service elsewhere.

The foreign secretary reiterated that he is trying to pursue a policy of ending hostilities and declined to be drawn into a controversy at this stage.

2 Good 'Fish' Finish Cruiser

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 26—Two torpedoes from a U. S. submarine have done what Japanese bombs and guns failed to accomplish—the sinking of the Cruiser Salt Lake City.

The 19-year-old vessel had been in 30 war engagements against the enemy.

The navy, in training exercises about 135 miles off the Southern California coast, yesterday directed an air and naval bombardment against the gallant cruiser. It withstood the attack completely.

Two direct torpedo hits, however, turned the trick. The vessel shuddered and then submerged bow foremost.

MANSFIELD, May 26—The sprawling Westinghouse plant here is meeting economy with a capital "E" to the tune of $800,000 yearly.

"Honey, I think I'll shoot you."

Lehman told authorities that he believed the gun to be empty and that it fired accidentally as he started to reload.

U.S. Women Prettier But Less Feminine Than Europeans, Claim

PARIS, May 26—American Women?

Standing in brilliant Parisian sunshine on a street corner, Maurice Chevalier grinned at the question. He squinted his eyes and thought quickly.

"I first saw New York in 1923," he said. "American women are still as beautiful now as then."

His smile broadened as he added:

"But I don't think they seem quite as feminine as our European women."

The famous singer, who can still keep a Paris audience entranced for more than an hour single-handed, looks younger than he is. He still has a sharp eye for a pretty figure and an easy, humorous manner.

On the average, he thinks, American women are better dressed than women in France and elsewhere in Europe.

The report saw the usual seasonal drop in meat supplies during the Summer and early Fall as a possible spur to already staggering meat prices.

The department pointed out that retail milk prices in 25 major cities already are about 10 percent higher than a year earlier. Although a seasonal production increase is at hand, it expects the trend to continue.

outside their own countries but who are the fanatical enemies of Democracy.

The records were published by a House foreign affairs subcommittee headed by Rep. Frances Bolton, (R) Ohio. The primary purpose was to establish the pattern of Communist leadership.

Mrs. Bolton's report calls the Red leaders "a great by-product of a past age, a natural one for that age." The report adds grimly:

"But underlying their ruthlessness, and their flexibility and patience, their interpretation of history is obsolete and destructive."

Together with other data, the subcommittee's report is designed to prove the Kremlin is waging through its agents in every nation a ceaseless battle for Communist supremacy.

This is held to be a perpetual threat to peace, for the report asserts in its comment on the 506 Communist leaders:

"They have their appropriate qualities and skills; but the skills and the wisdom that they lack include all that concerns the evolution of a world at peace, without recurring catastrophes still to come."

THE ARMY nominally has been operating the railroads for more than two weeks and 150,000 engineers, firemen and switchmen have remained on the job under a temporary restraining order issued by Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough. That order expires Friday.

A hearing has been set for 9 a. m. (EST) Friday on whether an injunction should be issued.

Leaders of the three brotherhoods and 17 other rail unions—representing a combined total of more than one million workers—last night demanded either negotiation of a federal contract or outright government ownership of the country's vast rail network.

No Second Spot Wanted By Dewey

CLEVELAND, May 26—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York will run for President, or remain as governor of New York.

The Republican presidential aspirant, stopping briefly here last night, nixed any possibilities of his running for vice-president on a slate headed by United States Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg. He said:

"I believe the people of my state would have me serve in a more active and responsible position like the one I have now."

provided the other side acts likewise.

The message to the UN was signed by Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok of the state of Israel.

All developments point to an inconclusive meeting of the Security Council, with the United States holding back to let the British do the talking.

The United States for the present is giving British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin a free hand to induce the Arabs to accept a truce.

In Cairo, King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan was quoted by the Arab newspaper Balagh as saying that he did not launch his "soldiers and sons into battle to be ordered to cease fire." He added:

"We will pursue the struggle until we reach our objective. The lives of my soldiers are dearest to me. Their blood shall not be shed in vain."

Abdul Raham Azzam Pasha, secretary-general of the Arab League, said that the battle of Jerusalem "will end in the next few days."

In Jerusalem, authoritative Israeli quarters predicted an intensification of aerial warfare in the Holy Land following yesterday's initial air attacks on Jerusalem.

The Israeli government was said to be engaged in building up a powerful air force which probably will be sent into large-scale action.

A lone plane, presumably Arab, loosed the first aerial attack in history on the holy city. It dropped a single heavy bomb on the Jewish headquarters area without causing damage.

A pall of black smoke meanwhile spread over Jerusalem as the result of a direct hit by an incendiary shell of the Arab Legion forces hurled at the former immigration offices.

The area affected is Russian property. Premises of the Russian orthodox church were hit, and its spires were barely visible above the smoke.

Mrs. Lawler, who was married at 16 and divorced eight years ago, said that her former husband had refused to support her and the children, Dorothy, 11, and Tommy, 10.

Before taking up her nursing and hat check duties, she worked as a night club photographer, and during the war as a welder.

She said: "I just don't believe in love anymore. But surely somewhere, there must be a man who wants a wife and two fine children. Perhaps we could learn to love each other after a time."

Lancaster Quiet After Premier Of Movie Ends

LANCASTER, May 26—Hollywood Stars Peggy Cummins, Martha Stewart and Charles Coburn travelled on to other duties today with glowing memories of the gala celebration for the premiere of "The Green Grass of Wyoming" here yesterday.

Col. George Mingle, head of the state highway patrol, estimated that almost 100,000 persons turned out to watch the mile and a half long parade that preceded the film's first showings last night.

Notables who braved the glare of the spotlight in the perfectly cool, clear Spring night included Governor and Mrs. Herbert, Former Governor George White and Mrs. White and Columbus mayor, James Rhodes and his wife.

They split billing with Miss Cummins and Coburn, who star in the picture, and Songstress Stewart, who appeared on a by-one on a portable platform before the theatre lobby, to be introduced by Floyd Wolfe, circulation manager of The Lancaster Eagle-Gazette.

on Britain's attitude toward the Jewish-Arab warfare and America's stand on the issue, Marshall pointed out that U. S. Ambassador Douglas and British Foreign Minister Bevin conferred on the question yesterday.

He added that until he had made a detailed study of the Douglas-Bevin conversations he would say nothing more.

At the White House, Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told newsmen that "no imminent action" can be expected on the Palestine arms embargo.

At the same time, Ross indicated that British opposition to an American loan enabling Israel to increase its defense potential would not be permitted to stand in the way of United States action in that regard.

Ross was asked whether there was any presidential reaction to "British opposition to the thought of a loan to Palestine."

He replied: "No."

Arabs Fail To Halt Fire

provided the other side acts likewise.

The message to the UN was signed by Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok of the state of Israel.

All developments point to an inconclusive meeting of the Security Council, with the United States holding back to let the British do the talking.

The United States for the present is giving British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin a free hand to induce the Arabs to accept a truce.

In Cairo, King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan was quoted by the Arab newspaper Balagh as saying that he did not launch his "soldiers and sons into battle to be ordered to cease fire." He added:

"We will pursue the struggle until we reach our objective. The lives of my soldiers are dearest to me. Their blood shall not be shed in vain."

Abdul Raham Azzam Pasha, secretary-general of the Arab League, said that the battle of Jerusalem "will end in the next few days."

In Jerusalem, authoritative Israeli quarters predicted an intensification of aerial warfare in the Holy Land following yesterday's initial air attacks on Jerusalem.

The Israeli government was said to be engaged in building up a powerful air force which probably will be sent into large-scale action.

A lone plane, presumably Arab, loosed the first aerial attack in history on the holy city. It dropped a single heavy bomb on the Jewish headquarters area without causing damage.

A pall of black smoke meanwhile spread over Jerusalem as the result of a direct hit by an incendiary shell of the Arab Legion forces hurled at the former immigration offices.

The area affected is Russian property. Premises of the Russian orthodox church were hit, and its spires were barely visible above the smoke.

cants. Some calls, no doubt, are of the "gag" variety.

Mrs. Lawler, who was married at 16 and divorced eight years ago, said that her former husband had refused to support her and the children, Dorothy, 11, and Tommy, 10.

Before taking up her nursing and hat check duties, she worked as a night club photographer, and during the war as a welder.

She said: "I just don't believe in love anymore. But surely somewhere, there must be a man who wants a wife and two fine children. Perhaps we could learn to love each other after a time."

DEATHS and Funerals

SAMUEL SHUMAKER

Samuel Shumaker, 73, farmer who lived near Clearport, five miles southeast of Amanda, died unexpectedly at 6:20 p. m. Tuesday while driving a team of horses toward his home after plowing corn during the day.

A son, Willard, found the body a few minutes after his father collapsed.

The elder Shumaker was the son of Abraham and Katie Ann (Schaeffer) Shumaker and had lived all his life in the Clearport community.

In addition to the son, Willard, he is survived by four other sons, Russell, Harold, Clay and Alva, who live nearby; five daughters, Mrs. Lula Seifert, Mrs. Bertha Phillips, Mrs. Opal DeLong and Mrs. Velma Franke of Lancaster, and Mrs. Doris Bowman of Columbus; 24 grandchildren, and nine great grandchildren.

Plans for the funeral, under direction of the Defenbaugh funeral home here, are incomplete.

Countian Given Sentences For Break, Entering

Concurrent sentences of one to five years in the Mansfield reformatory was handed Emerson Cain, 19, of Pickaway Township Wednesday on two counts of breaking and entering by Judge William D. Radcliff in Pickaway County common pleas court.

Cain pleaded guilty at arraignment on May 6, after he had been indicted by the May session of grand jury. At that time he was remanded to the county jail to await pronouncement of sentence.

In one of two other cases to come before the judge, George Bunn of Columbus was remanded to the county jail under $500 bond after he pleaded innocent to an accusation of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Bunn was arrested by State Highway Patrolman C. E. Wells. "Alfred Smith of Circleville was sentenced to six months in the Pickaway County jail after pleading guilty to probation violation. He was wanted on a bench warrant when captured by Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff.

Circleville firemen were shown movies on firefighting, first aid and equipment of the Lancaster, Penn. fire station Tuesday night in the fire house.

The pictures were shown by R. C. Hagey of Lancaster, who is affiliated with the John W. Eshelman Milling Co. here.

OFFICIALS IN A DITHER

Ohio Highway Department Finds Fuel Lack Pinches

COLUMBUS, May 26—If your car rattles over washboard roads this Summer; if the dust blows in your eyes from a dry and dirty state road, it may be because there's no gasoline.

If some of the bridges are a little shaky and if the weeds grow high along the state roads, it may be because of the same lack of the previous gas, kerosene and fuel oil from the west.

So far, the Ohio highway department hasn't had to slow down its maintenance program, but it's working on an emergency basis, and it's in a big dither wondering where the next day's supplies are coming from.

Time was when the highway department could advertise for bids and get a 90-day supply of gas for its trucks and kerosene and fuel oil for its big graders and other heavy equipment at one price.

BUT NO MORE, says C. R. Leavens, department purchasing agent.

Now, each contract is advertised at least twice, to pull in bids from the short-supplied major companies—and then there's no assurance the stuff will be delivered. If it is, the prices will be at the daily tank wagon loading rates.

Leavens says this means extra work and double expenses in advertising; plus checking, tabulating and certifying the bids. It also fouls up the state's planning and adds to the burden of the man who must make six or seven telephone calls to line up a supply of fuel for some project that has run out.

And it means red tape in going to the state control board to get an authorization to buy goods without taking bids.

The heck of it is, nobody knows what is going to happen next. Least of all, Leavens or the oil companies. If the weather is good and tourist trade booms the way it's expected to, things may get worse.

Leavens says the state got along pretty well under the old rationing system, but that was in wartime when the highways were considered fairly essential. But in peacetime, he says, it's "just one big question mark."

THE STATE government is one of the biggest users of gasoline products in Ohio. Leavens says the state annually uses between five million and six million gallons of gasoline, 400,000 gallons of kerosene and 300,000 gallons of fuel oil; 80 to 85 percent of which comes from the major companies. Only a few of the largest trucking concerns use more.

Complicating the problem presented by this terrific consumption is the fact that the highway department has 110 outlets in the 88 counties that must be kept "sweet."

Leavens says if it were just a matter of supplying one city such as Columbus, Toledo or Cincinnati, the problem would be simple because it could be cared for locally.

But he says the statewide operation means the companies must allocate, say 200,000 gallons to the state. If the various highway divisions figure they need 350,000 gallons for a period, estimates must be trimmed and someone must run dry.

Then again, a company bulk plant that is full one day may run out the next and deliveries cease. That's when the purchasing division gets on the phone.

Referee Needed In Sausage's Tiff With Hamburger

WASHINGTON, May 26—The Agriculture department has been urged to serve as a referee in the contest between hamburger and cured sausages for top billing on American dinner tables.

The suggestion came from the livestock advisory committee which recommends new research projects in its field.

The committee said the industry needs to be brought up-to-date on how much ground beef should go into hamburgers and how much into sausages.

It explained that the information is needed because of the "competitive relation" between the two products.

The industry group, in effect, also asked the department to find out whether the average housewife abandons beef stew in favor of filet mignon when the family breadwinner gets a pay boost.

AIR SQUADRON 84

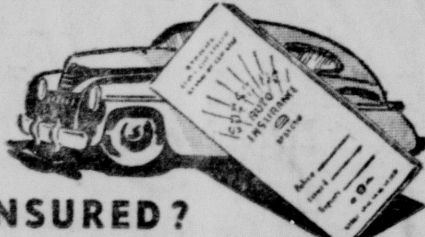

Members of Circleville Air Scout Squadron 84 have made plans to attend a regional "sky meet" to be held in Columbus Aug. 20, 21 and 22. The event will include Senior Scout units from Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Harvey Fraser, field executive of the Pickaway district, has been named co-chairman of the social committee for the program. Fraser said highlights of the three-day meet will include a tour through the Curtiss-Wright airplane plant, a tour of the naval air station at Port Columbus, model flying contests, a grand ball and guest speakers and performers.

The meet is to be held at the Sullivan avenue airport, with most of the indoor activities to take place in the field's hangar.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Oestreicher
INS Foreign Observer

News that Nazi Germany's "Flying Amazon," Hanna Reitsch, was arrested trying to cross the border into Austria illegally recalled the now historic days of Adolf Hitler's suicide and served to bring back to memory an unexplained Soviet mystery.

Just why did the Russians blow up the famous air raid bunker on the Berlin chancellery grounds where Hitler is supposed to have married Eva Braun and then killed himself soon after Miss Reitsch left him?

Obviously, the Soviets dynamited the place because it had military value and their policy is to deny the Germans anything that might be of service in another war.

This was explainable and understandable when the Russians blew up one of the gigantic air raid shelters in their section of Berlin. The British did likewise with a shelter overlooking the zoo in their part of the shattered capital.

HITLER'S private shelter, however, was something else again and surely would have made a money-making tourist attraction when Germany is back on her feet in one way or another.

The bunker was on three levels. It had everything, including air-conditioning. But it could not hold more than a comparative handful of people.

Invading Allied troops stripped it of all its machinery and removable furnishings and the place was merely an empty shell that was not pleasant but surely fascinating to visit.

Every prominent visitor from abroad, headed first by Winston Churchill, sought and obtained Russian permission to visit it.

There are two possible reasons for the Soviets' seemingly inexplicable gesture.

First, they may feel that the bunker could become a secret shrine for a revived Nazism and its removal was another nail in the coffin of Hitlerism.

Secondly, they may not have liked the fact that it attracted so many Americans and Britons and its demolition would give them less reason to want to visit the Soviet zone.

Whatever the real reason, future German tourists lost a first-rate goldmine.

OFFICIALS IN A DITHER

Ohio Highway Department Finds Fuel Lack Pinches

COLUMBUS, May 26—If your car rattles over washboard roads this Summer; if the dust blows in your eyes from a dry and dirty state road, it may be because there's no gasoline.

If some of the bridges are a little shaky and if the weeds grow high along the state roads, it may be because of the same lack of the previous gas, kerosene and fuel oil from the west.

So far, the Ohio highway department hasn't had to slow down its maintenance program, but it's working on an emergency basis, and it's in a big dither wondering where the next day's supplies are coming from.

Time was when the highway department could advertise for bids and get a 90-day supply of gas for its trucks and kerosene and fuel oil for its big graders and other heavy equipment at one price.

BUT NO MORE, says C. R. Leavens, department purchasing agent.

Now, each contract is advertised at least twice, to pull in bids from the short-supplied major companies—and then there's no assurance the stuff will be delivered. If it is, the prices will be at the daily tank wagon loading rates.

Leavens says this means ex-

Motion For New Trial Expected

YOUNGSTOWN, May 26—A motion for a new trial is expected in the next few days in the bribery case of two Ohio liquor agents.

A three-judge Mahoning County common pleas court yesterday found Joseph Holland of Cleveland and Leonard Strauss of Middletown guilty of demanding $1,500 to $2,500 from Paul Alvino, operator of Rendezvous villa on Route 18 west of Youngstown.

Holland and Strauss, who were released on bond, cited Alvino to the liquor board after charging that they bought liquor on a Sunday at Alvino's tavern. As a result, Alvino's night-club license was suspended for 60 days.

Alvino, meanwhile, presented evidence to the Mahoning County grand jury, which indicted the two liquor officials. In court testimony yesterday, Holland and Strauss denied that any money was demanded of Alvino.

Demos Finding Peace, Harmony

CLEVELAND, May 26—All was peace and harmony today, on the surface at least, between the Cuyahoga County Democratic organization and Frank J. Lausche, party nominee for governor.

John J. Day, former state senator and old guard choice, was elected chairman of the county executive committee last night in Cleveland without opposition. It had been expected Lausche's choice, Felix T. Matia, new county party chairman, also would assume the executive post. Matia failed to contest day's election, however.

Day was nominated by Ray T. Miller, former party head and Democratic candidate defeated overwhelmingly by Lausche in the May 4 primary.

tra work and double expenses in advertising; plus checking, tabulating and certifying the bids. It also fouls up the state's planning and adds to the burden of the man who must make six or seven telephone calls to line up a supply of fuel for some project that has run out.

And it means red tape in going to the state control board to get an authorization to buy goods without taking bids.

The heck of it is, nobody knows what is going to happen next. Least of all, Leavens or the oil companies. If the weather is good and tourist trade booms the way it's expected to, things may get worse.

Leavens says the state got along pretty well under the old rationing system, but that was in wartime when the highways were considered fairly essential. But in peacetime, he says, it's "just one big question mark."

THE STATE government is one of the biggest users of gasoline products in Ohio. Leavens says the state annually uses between five million and six million gallons of gasoline, 400,000 gallons of kerosene and 300,000 gallons of fuel oil; 80 to 85 percent of which comes from the major companies. Only a few of the largest trucking concerns use more.

Complicating the problem presented by this terrific consumption is the fact that the highway department has 110 outlets in the 68 counties that must be kept "sweet."

Leavens says if it were just a matter of supplying one city such as Columbus, Toledo or Cincinnati, the problem would be simple because it could be cared for locally.

But he says the statewide operation means the companies must allocate, say 200,000 gallons to the state. If the various highway divisions figure they need 350,000 gallons for a period, estimates must be trimmed and someone may run dry.

Then again, a company bulk plant that is full one day may run out the next and deliveries cease. That's when the purchasing division gets on the phone.

Referee Needed In Sausage's Tiff With Hamburger

WASHINGTON, May 26—The Agriculture department has been urged to serve as a referee in the contest between hamburger and cured sausages for top billing on American dinner tables.

The suggestion came from the livestock advisory committee which recommends new research projects in its field.

The committee said the industry needs to be brought up-to-date on how much ground beef should go into hamburgers and how much into sausages.

It explained that the information is needed because of the "competitive relation" between the two products.

The industry group, in effect, also asked the department to find out whether the average housewife abandons beef stew in favor of filet mignon when the family breadwinner gets a pay boost.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Oestreicher
INS Foreign Observer

News that Nazi Germany's "Flying Amazon", Hanna Reitsch, was arrested trying to cross the border into Austria illegally recalled the now historic days of Adolf Hitler's suicide and served to bring back to memory an unexplained Soviet mystery.

Just why did the Russians blow up the famous air raid bunker on the Berlin chancellery grounds where Hitler is supposed to have married Eva Braun and then killed himself soon after Miss Reitsch left him?

Ostensibly, the Soviets dynamited the place because it had military value and their policy is to deny the Germans anything that might be of service in another war.

This was explainable and understandable when the Russians blew up one of the gigantic air raid shelters in their section of Berlin. The British did likewise with a shelter overlooking the zoo in their part of the shattered capital.

HITLER'S private shelter, however, was something else again and surely would have made a money-making tourist attraction when Germany is back on her feet in one way or another.

The bunker was on three levels. It had everything, including air-conditioning.

But it could not hold more than a comparative handful of people.

Invading Allied troops stripped it of all its machinery and removable furnishings and the place was merely an empty shell that was not pleasant but surely fascinating to visit.

Every prominent visitor from abroad, headed first by Winston Churchill, sought and obtained Russian permission to visit it.

There are two possible reasons for the Soviets' seemingly inexplicable gesture.

First, they may feel that the bunker could become a secret shrine for a revived Nazism and its removal was another nail in the coffin of Hitlerism.

Secondly, they may not have liked the fact that it attracted so many Americans and Britons and its demolition would give them less reason to want to visit the Soviet zone.

Whatever the real reason, future German tourists lost a first-rate goldmine.

Continual Soil Building Need Cited

Expert Points Out Practices

Building the soil and letting it wash away is like putting money in the bank and then burning the bank down, Larry Best, Pickaway County agricultural agent said Wednesday.

"Soil building needs top priority on most Midwestern farms," he pointed out. "But there is not much point in building the soil unless you keep it at home to give you high crop yields."

"That is why it is so important to use the teamwork of practices that build and maintain soil structure and measures that prevent erosion and keep your soils on your farm."

"A good crop rotation is the foundation of your soil building program. Well-fed, deep-rooted legumes and grasses are the corner stone. Liming, based on soil tests, is one of the supporting pillars. Another is a balanced supply of plant nutrients for the soil."

"Deep-rooted legumes are No. 1 soil builders. They add to the organic matter supply. They improve soil structure. Such soil has what we call good tilth. Water soaks in quickly and more of it is held."

"Well-structured soils are loose and easy to work. They provide plenty of 'leg room' for plant roots to stretch out in search of air, water and plant nutrients."

"Legumes and grasses can do a good soil building job only if they are well fed. They need plenty of phosphate and potash supplied in the form of commercial fertilizers. This enables them to establish sturdy root systems and thick, strong stands."

"But building soil structure is not the whole story. On some farms you can cut down erosion merely by putting the soil in shape so that less water runs off and steals your top soil. In other soils, you may need contour cultivation, strip cropping, terracing and other conservation measures."

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Radishes Take on "New Look"

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Distributed by Central Press Association

MANY of the radishes which will appear in this year's Freedom gardens will have the "new look." Their shapes are changing from the old-fashioned round form to oblong and icicle slender. They also come in many color schemes of salad bowls.

Some of the radishes whose complexions and figures are comparatively new are illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. They are: Sparkler, French Breakfast, White Box and Icicle. Sparkler, although still round in form, is an attractive two-toned radish. It is a brilliant scarlet, heavily tipped with white. Aside from its desirability for appearance, its crisp, white flesh and mild, sweet flavor makes it a favorite among gardeners.

French Breakfast is a desirable table radish. Its "new look" is an oblong silhouette. Gardeners also like it because it grows quickly.

Ohio Banks Set 'Credit Control' Policy, Report

COLUMBUS, May 26—A voluntary "credit control policy" is being exercised by Ohio banks, the president of the Ohio Bankers Association stated today.

C. W. McBride told the annual meeting of the association here that the banks were following the suggestion of the American Bankers Association "which certainly is more sound than rigid governmental regulation to combat inflation."

One of the federal government's attempts to offset the inroads of inflation met with the approval of the gathering. Speaker Morrie M. Townsend of the U. S. Treasury said that banks were selling 70 percent of the Series E bonds and almost all of the F and G bonds. He said "during the war this was, and still is, a patriotic, public service."

Attention turned away from the aspect of inflation to a field influencing the capital of many banks—farming.

The change in farming capacities was explained by Ollie E. Fink of Columbus, national secretary of Friends of the Land. He pointed out that mechanized farms were allowing more and more people to live a city life. According to Fink, it took 19 farmers in pioneer days to feed 20 persons. Today five men, armed with the latest inventions, can do the same job.

Mexico's tourist crop brought in $80,000,000 in 1947, which is a new high record.

White Box has a round figure but an all-white complexion. It also grows rapidly, maturing in 20 days.

In addition to its "new look," White Icicle is an exceptionally fine radish which forms roots which are almost five inches long. The flesh is pure white and crisp, yet tender. It matures early and is good for either spring or fall use.

When planting White Icicle, make sure the soil is deeply cultivated so that the long, well-formed roots can develop properly.

Don't waste space on long rows of radishes. They can be tucked in at odd places or sown in the row with carrots. They are harvested in a few weeks, leaving room for the carrots to spread out. Or plant half a short row of radishes, the rest in lettuce. When the radishes are harvested, transplant the lettuce thinnings into the rest of the row.

ENGLISH LIBERALS

CAN A party at the point of death come back? This question must have been asked, at least silently, at the recent convention of the British Liberal Party. Once the dominant party, the Liberals have only 12 members in Parliament, and in the 1945 election polled only 2,253,000 votes, about 10 percent of the total. Now they have been able to raise the substantial sum needed to cover the deficit in the party treasury, and they plan to put candidates in the field wherever there is a parliamentary vacancy.

The Liberals were hurt partly by the rise of a rival, the Labor Party, and partly by the feuding over their wartime leader, David Lloyd George. Lloyd George combined with the Tories in 1915 to overthrow the Liberal premier, Herbert Asquith, who was thought too easy-going to run a war. In the victory election in 1918, he used his war prestige to hunt the Asquith Liberals out of Parliament. Later, when the Tories in turn cast him out, he tried to return to his old party, but they would have none of him. Meanwhile voters who wanted to go ahead, instead of backward with the Tories, were disgusted with the Liberal quarrels, and joined the Labor party.

Lloyd George is dead now, and the old feud should be healed. As the proponents of a middle road between Toryism and Socialism, there should be a future for the Liberals. But middle-of-the-roads often find the way hard.

FEWER SQUARE PEGS

THE United States Employment Service, called USES, says it is ready to procure jobs for high school and college graduates of this month and next.

Ability tests are freely used in determining fitness and capability, and in nearly every community either federal or state employment offices exist, to supplement efforts of schools and of employers to fit the applicant to the job.

Past generations of job-seekers have not had such good fortune. A few strong characters in every group possessed a drive toward definite careers. Some pliable youngsters fitted easily into niches provided by relatives or friends.

There remained a vast number of graduates who looked for jobs as such, knowing that they must work in order to eat. Many were pathetically unsuited to the work they adopted, but were chained to their jobs by early-acquired responsibilities and spent their lives as discontented, ill-adjusted misfits.

The opportunities offered to today's young people should make such tragedies unnecessary. Certainly the number of round holes which are only partly filled by square pegs will be greatly reduced.

Russia or no Russia, the headlines nowadays tell a lot about a more serious subject—baseball.

George E. Sokolaky's

These Days

Communist technique, fully adopted by Henry Wallace, is beyond belief. They have now started a terrific propaganda to give the impression that the United States started the Cold War. For at least two years, every Soviet official of importance, not only within Soviet Russia but in the United Nations and throughout the world, has been attacking the United States, American institutions and American personalities, including President Truman. When before has any country submitted without reply or reprisal to such attacks as Vishinsky made upon the United States on its own soil loaned to UN?

On the continent of Europe, the Cold War was concentrated upon the United States with every weapon of smear, deceit, humiliation. Among the peoples who were eating our wheat and wearing our clothes, to whose children we were sending the chance to survive, the Soviet propaganda machine worked mercilessly to defame and denounce our motives. The billions of dollars in food and commodities were described as the poison of imperialism. Our pity and compassion were denounced as enslavement. Never in all his years of madness did Hitler denounce the United States with equal venom.

Our objective was peace. At San Francisco, at Potsdam, at the United Nations, Soviet Russia fought every constructive effort toward peace. Foul and wearisome became the repetitious Veto, which served no other purpose than to prove to the Russian satellites and the weakened nations of Europe and Asia that the United States was nothing, that the world had to go the Soviet way or suffer Soviet antagonism and perhaps conquest through revolution.

The premise upon which Soviet Russia functions is the "inevitable" collapse of the American capitalist economy. You may recall that no sooner was the fighting war over than Henry Wallace, as secretary of commerce, issued phony statistics to indicate a collapse.

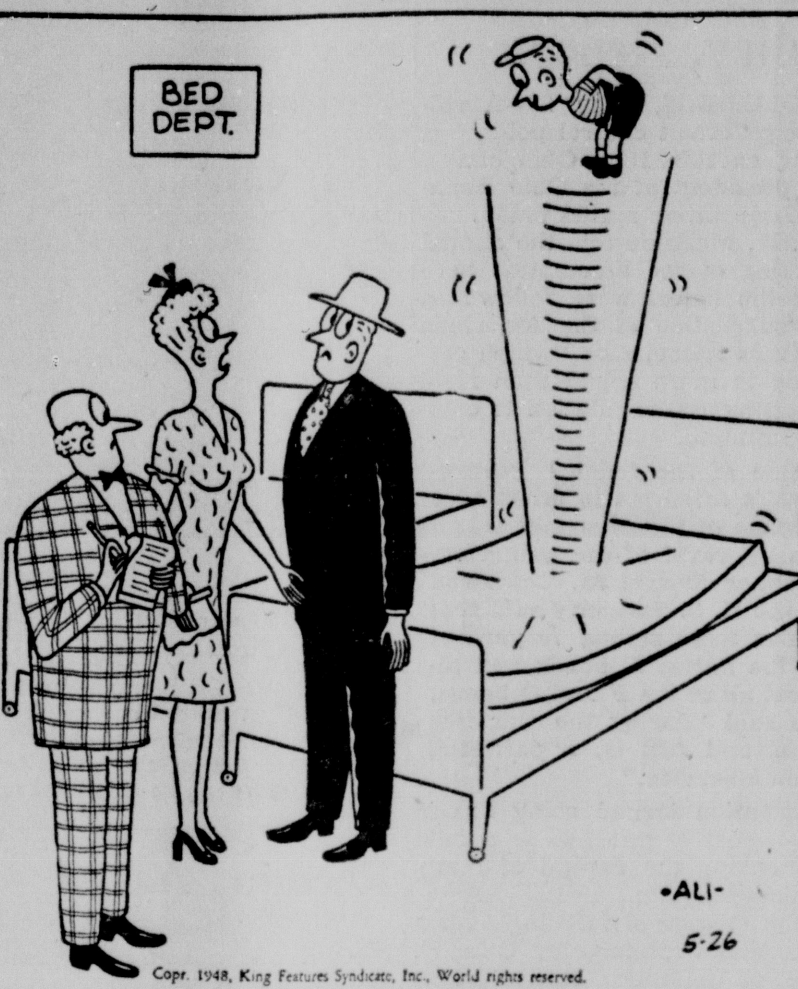

"Boom or Bust" was made into one of those slogans that captures the eye and stupefies the mind. A series of strikes was encouraged by Communist-directed unions and then there was a "second round" and then there was to be a "third round" of strikes and wage increases and economic disturbances.

Meanwhile, all the world was demanding aid from us and we were giving aid. And Soviet Russia was conducting a "Cold War" designed to force upon us a huge bill for rearmament; costly for us, yet essential in view of their attitude. Surely, they assumed, no country could stand such a burden and not collapse. We not only did not collapse but we took on aid to Greece, Turkey and China; we took on the Marshall Plan; we took on almost a wartime military budget. And although it all hurts and we know that we shall suffer from these costs—we have not collapsed. We are stronger, more united in our purposes than we were even during the fighting war.

How can we stop a Cold War which has been a one-way war: Soviet Russia against the United States? They have been defeated in that Cold War. They have been defeated by the resilience of the peoples of Western Europe. They have been defeated by the survival of Western European civilization. They have been defeated by the amazing productivity of the American people.

Instead of recognizing how vile they have been, they turn upon us and ask us to quit fighting them. Is that not the normal conduct of a bully? There can be bullies among nations as in the schoolyard.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

AN ABSURD INJUNCTION

ONE of the worst bits of advice ever put into bridge books—and most of them contain it—tells a player that he usually should pass his partner's opening bid unless his hand contains "a trick and a half or better" in high cards. Experience has shown every man and woman among the top ranking players—without one solitary exception—that suit-lengths are as important in determining whether to bid or not to bid, and often more so. A sounder measure is to have a minimum of about "four playing tricks" of any kind. A seven-card suit in an honorless hand, or a six-card suit with intermediates worth about a trick, gives you that much.

When East heard his sound partner's opening bid on this deal, he did some careful counting. Not counting of honor tricks, as any boob can see that his hand has nothing like the "one and a half" unsoundly prescribed by teachers who don't practice what they preach. At the best his hand, with its two queen-jacks, had about "a half-plus" as the cockeyed wooden high-card trick tables list them. But East counted up the more important entity of total playing tricks of all kinds. At the bottom of his club suit he could note three such tricks for the small cards. And his two queen-jacks, when opposite an opening bid—therefore likely to have some kind of an honor opposite one or both—should be worth at least a trick. So he made the right bid of 2-Clubs. West, with his bunch of good stuff, properly leaped into his game then, at No Trumps.

Against the worst possible lead of a spade, West made game easily, not even risking the diamond finesse which would have given him an extra. He scored two in spades, five in clubs and the two red aces.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SEVEN
IT WAS ALL exactly as Anne had known it would be. There was a purple mat of violets under the trees along the driveway. And the jonquils and tulips made a bright path of color in Julia's garden. And the lambs were out frolicking in the near fields. And though she could not see their crowned glory, she could smell the fragrance of the apple blossoms from the orchards behind the barns. Apple blossoms and wistaria. What a heavenly combination!
She got out of the taxi at the front entrance at the foot of the steps. Where was that wistaria, anyway? As her eyes found it, she let out a little exclamation of delighted surprise. How had she missed it? The great vine at the end of the screened porch had climbed to its roof and laid a blanket of lavender and white completely over it. How beautiful! How breath-takingly beautiful!
She stood still in the enveloping peace of the place, listening with a thrill of deep affection to all the country sounds. The humming of fat bees in the blossoms everywhere. The faint steady rumble of the far-off tractor. A child's laugh—Judy's—and then the belated barking of the dogs as they bounded around the corner of the house followed by Judy and Julia.
"It's Anne," Judy cried. "Andy-Pandy! Andy-Pandy! Hi! Hi! Hi! Hi!" And she came running full tilt.
Julia said nothing but her swift radiant smile and her quickening steps spoke for her. She waited until Anne had disengaged herself from the clinging Judy and then said, "Darling, go find Daddy. He's in his office. Go tell him Anne has come, will you?" She turned back to Anne. "Or would you rather—"
Anne shook her head. "No," she said. "That's all right."
Judy ran off, pretending she was riding a galloping pony and Anne's eyes followed her. "Doesn't she miss Helen at all?" she asked.
Julia replied promptly, "She never has and she never will. Her tone held a satisfaction which she did not try to conceal as her eyes met Anne's. She went on quietly. "The ways of Providence are certainly strange, aren't they, my dear?"
Anne made no answer. It was still all too fresh and vivid a tragedy in her mind. One night to be dining with Don, telling him she would marry him because John was forever out of her reach, and tion. At her discretion she can announce the important call and ask that the line be cleared.

JOBS UPON A TIME
Head of the Atomic Energy Commission, David E. Lilienthal started his business life as a lawyer, hanging out his shingle in Chicago after he was graduated from Harvard law school. In 1933, Lilienthal was named one of the three co-directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority, and later became its director. Lilienthal was born in Morton, Ill., was graduated from DePaul university in 1920, and married a classmate, Helen Marian Lamb. He believes that the people of the world have the choice "to use science either for evil or good."
Daughter of a brigadier general, blond Ann Harding was born at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and spent her childhood at Army posts and in finishing school. She wanted to become an actress, but knowing that her father opposed it, she embarked on a career as a typist. Ann, however, naturally drifted into the Provincetown, N. J., players and then left home to become a member of a stock company in Detroit. She was well established as a Broadway actress when she went to Hollywood in 1929. Her first film role was in "Holiday," released in 1930. Ann retired in 1937 to devote her time to home making (she is married to Warner Janssen, symphony orchestra conductor), but is now making a screen comeback.

Treating Throat Infections With Penicillin Lozenges

By HERMAN N. BUNNEN, M.D.
BOTH penicillin and the sulfonamide drugs are valuable in the treatment of throat infections, but they must be used with care and only under the direction of a physician because not even these wonder drugs will be effective when applied hot or miss.

For example, acute sore throat is usually only a part of a general infection of the upper respiratory passages. Thus, to treat the throat with penicillin while neglecting the nose or nasal sinuses will not result in a cure.

Penicillin Lozenges
However, many physicians, in such cases, advise the use of penicillin lozenges which are allowed to dissolve slowly in the mouth, or they may suggest a similar preparation of one of the sulfonamide drugs. In such cases, the nose is also carefully examined by the doctor to determine if there is any infection present in the sinuses and, if such infection is present, treatment of the sinuses is carried out.

Sore Tongue
The prolonged sucking of penicillin lozenges sometimes causes a sore tongue which may be more unpleasant than the original sore throat. Fortunately, this condition of the tongue clears up when the treatment is stopped.
Vincent's angina, or trench mouth, is another condition which may be cleared up quickly with penicillin. Penicillin lozenges are also useful here. In trench mouth, there are ulcers or sores in the mouth. In severe cases, not only should the penicillin lozenges be used, but the penicillin should also be given by injection into a muscle.

Stassen Move for Dixie Uncle Sam's New TG-190
Delegates Arouses Rivals Called Best Jet Engine

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Political experts figure that Harold E. Stassen's new invasion of the south has served to concentrate "regular" Republican opposition to his nomination at the national convention next month. Stassen, with new Dixie headquarters in Atlanta, Ga., is openly out for southern delegates, many of whom are regarded as the property of Ohio's Senator Robert A. Taft.

Anti-Stassen forces believe the Minnesota can be stopped in his tracks by a concerted drive. Stassen's "raids" have provided the incentive among the other camps to "gang up" on him.

The payoff will be in the "favorite son" delegations—Pennsylvania, first ballot for Senator Edward Martin; Illinois, first ballot for Gov. Dwight Greene; and California, first ballot for Gov. Earle Warren.

The play will be to get these three bumper delegations behind a single presidential aspirant, be he Thomas Dewey, Taft, or a "dark horse." Secondary strength is Taft's hope for the nomination. Dewey also counts on released "favorite son" delegations to give him the necessary majority. Should both fail, they are determined to take Stassen down with them, and to throw the nomination to someone, such as Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, or House Speaker Joe Martin of Massachusetts.

● TEETH-PULLING IN ANTI-RED BILL—A strong attempt will be made in the House to amend the new subversive-activities control bill by outright banning of the Communist party in the United States.

The House un-American activities committee decided against outlawing the party when serious doubts arose as to the constitutionality of such a law.

Members expect to have a difficult time, however, in keeping such an amendment out of the bill if it is offered during consideration, which is expected soon.

The bill is expected to win House approval with only a handful of opposition votes, but doubt is expressed that the Senate will take up the legislation before the scheduled mid-June adjournment date.

The legislation, first to be reported in the more than three years since the committee became a regular standing committee of the House, provides for registration with the attorney general of Communist-front organizations; denies federal employment to members and makes unlawful conspiracies to establish a foreign-controlled totalitarian dictatorship.

● HOFFMAN BILL DEAD?—The Hoffman bill to force government agencies to supply congressional committees with "necessary" information stands little chance of final passage and probably will die with the expiration of the present Congress next January.

Reason is that virtually the only enthusiasm for the legislation is in the House. Republican leaders in the Senate have not reserved a place for the bill on their legislative schedule and there seems to be little likelihood that they will.

The House support for the bill grows out of the resentment of several House leaders, both Republican and Democratic, over the refusal of President Truman to supply information they desire.

The most noteworthy instances of this kind was the refusal of the president to surrender the letter of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover on the loyalty of Dr. Edward U. Condon, head of the Bureau of Standards. The bill did not result from this controversy, but much of the House support derived from it.

'Petticoat Surgeon' Review Heard At Senior Girl Banquet

76 Persons Attend BPW Fete In Club

A native of England, visiting in Columbus, unknowingly lent the keynote to the girl graduate banquet by saying "Don't You Love Our Sex".

Miss Elma Rains introduced Miss Helen Bowers, a former resident of Ashville and now assistant to the dean at Capital University, Columbus, who was guest speaker. Miss Bowers built her discussion on "Women" from the few words spoken by the Britisher.

The affair marked the customary dinner sponsored by Business and Professional Women's Club complementing the senior girls Tuesday evening in Pickaway Country Club.

Miss Bowers chose to review the book "Petticoat Surgeon", an autobiography by Bertha Van Housen. She began her review by giving the background of the little Dutch girl and her family who lived in Stony Creek, Mich.

The author of the book said she was called a "jubilant baby" by her parents, and added that she "not only was a self-made woman but a self-weaned woman".

Miss Bowers said "at an early age Bertha realized the gulf between country and city school children and decided to broaden her scope and outlook upon world affairs. She worked diligently on her father's farm in place of the boy she was supposed to have been born".

The author said she followed her father's demand that she excel in her studies and she worked for perfection both in grade and high school. At the time she entered the University of Michigan in 1880, there never had been women physicians. Here she decided to pursue the study of medicine.

"Bertha's parents opposed her decision and she was forced to earn her way through medical school. She decided to specialize in women's ailments and diseases, for which today she is famous."

"In 1885, at the Michigan medical school she studied under the very best medical men, including Dr. Will Mayol. Becoming interested in obstetrics in a Detroit hospital. Later she went to the state hospital in Kalamazoo and worked with insane women."

"Assuming new duties at Women's hospital in Boston, she continued administering aid to ailing women. The greatest compliment in the author's own words was the time she was asked to return to her hometown and deliver her sister's first baby."

Miss Bowers said, "she hung her shingle out in Chicago in a neighborhood that was a no-respecter of women. The emptiness left by the death of her father, who was her keenest admirer, led her to go to Europe for further medical research."

Dr. Van Housen taught anatomy at Northwestern university and worked in the clinic there. The author of "Petticoat Surgeon" was the first to introduce

"twilight sleep" and was the original sex educator in colleges.

"She became acting surgeon in Loyola university hospital and organized the Women's Medical Association and helped promote the international WMA." Again she returned to Europe and to Vienna where women physicians were taboo. Upon her return to America she continued her studies as an obstetrician. During the earthquake in 1923 in Japan she showed dauntless courage as she and her niece, Sara, assisted the wounded and dying."

In conclusion Miss Bowers said "the author's story of her life, sense of humor and wit, is as keen as the scalpel she uses".

Places were set for 76 persons at seven damask-covered tables at the banquet. Each table was decorated with bouquets of roses and tall white tapers. Places were marked by miniature mortar boards with tassels and a scroll which revealed the evening's program. Complimenting the graduates, their class colors, scarlet and grey, were used in napkins and favors. The 25 seniors were given carnations in crystal lapel pins.

The program opened with group singing with Mrs. Harriet Hennessy at the piano. Miss Clara Southard led the BPW Club collect. Mrs. Anna Chandler gave the welcoming address. Miss Edna Maynard voiced the response.

Miss Harriet McGath read a resume and history of the club. Mrs. Theodore L. Huston of Stoutsville played three piano selections. Her encore number was "Country Gardens" by Percy Granger.

Responsible for the arrangements were Miss Rains, Mrs. H. G. Stevenson, Miss Southard, Miss Ann Gordon, Mrs. H. W. Plum, Mrs. G. Guy Campbell, Miss Elizabeth Hilyard, Miss Wilmina Phebus, Miss Clarissa Talbot, Miss Mildred Urton and Miss Minnie Palm.

'Petticoat Surgeon' Review Heard At Senior Girl Banquet

76 Persons Attend
BPW Fete In Club

A native of England, visiting in Columbus, unknowingly lent the keynote to the girl graduate banquet by saying "Don't You Love Our Sex".

Miss Elma Rains introduced Miss Helen Bowers, a former resident of Ashville and now assistant to the dean at Capital University, Columbus, who was guest speaker. Miss Bowers built her discussion on "Women" from the few words spoken by the Britisher.

The affair marked the customary dinner sponsored by Business and Professional Women's Club complementing the senior girls Tuesday evening in Pickaway Country Club.

Miss Bowers chose to review the book "Petticoat Surgeon", an autobiography by Bertha Van Housen. She began her review by giving the background of the little Dutch girl and her family who lived in Stony Creek, Mich.

The author of the book said she was called a "jubilant baby" by her parents, and added that she "not only was a self-made woman but a self-weaned woman."

Miss Bowers said "at an early age Bertha realized the gulf between country and city school children and decided to broaden her scope and outlook upon world affairs. She worked diligently on her father's farm in place of the boy she was supposed to have been born."

The author said she followed her father's demand that she excel in her studies and she worked for perfection both in grade and high school. At the time she entered the University of Michigan in 1880, there never had been women physicians. Here she decided to pursue the study of medicine.

"Bertha's parents opposed her decision and she was forced to earn her way through medical school. She decided to specialize in women's ailments and diseases, for which today she is famous.

"In 1885, at the Michigan medical school she studied under the very best medical men, including Dr. Will Mayo. Becoming interested in surgery she specialized in obstetrics in a Detroit hospital. Later she went to the state hospital in Kalamazoo and worked with insane women.

"Assuming new duties at Women's hospital in Boston, she continued administering aid to ailing women. The greatest compliment in the author's own words was the time she was asked to return to her hometown and deliver her sister's first baby."

Miss Bowers said, "she hung her shingle out in Chicago in a neighborhood that was no respecter of women. The emptiness left by the death of her father, who was her keenest admirer, led her to go to Europe for further medical research.

Dr. Van Housen taught anatomy at Northwestern university and worked in the clinic there. The author of "Petticoat Surgeon" was the first to introduce

"twilight sleep" and was the original sex educator in colleges.

"She became acting surgeon in Loyola university hospital and organized the Women's Medical Association and helped promote the international WMA. Again she returned to Europe and to Vienna where women physicians were taboo. Upon her return to America she continued her studies as an obstetrician. During the earthquake in 1923 in Japan she showed dauntless courage as she and her niece, Sara, assisted the wounded and dying."

In conclusion Miss Bowers said "the author's story of her life, sense of humor and wit, is as keen as the scalpel she uses."

Places were set for 76 persons at seven damask-covered tables at the banquet. Each table was decorated with bouquets of roses and tall white tapers. Places were marked by miniature mortar boards with tassels and a scroll which revealed the evening's program. Complimenting the graduates, their class colors, scarlet and grey, were used in napkins and favors. The 25 seniors were given carnations in crystal lapel pins.

The program opened with group singing with Mrs. Harriet Hennessy at the piano. Miss Clara Southward lead the BPW Club collect. Mrs. Anna Chandler gave the welcoming address. Miss Edna Maynard voiced the response.

Miss Harriet McGath read a resume and history of the club. Mrs. Theodore L. Huston of Stoutsville played three piano selections. Her encore number was "Country Gardens" by Percy Grangier.

Responsible for the arrangements were Miss Rains, Mrs. H. G. Stevenson, Miss Southward, Miss Ann Gordon, Mrs. H. W. Plum, Mrs. G. Guy Campbell, Miss Elizabeth Hilyard, Miss Wilmina Phebus, Miss Clarissa Talbot, Miss Mildred Urton and Miss Minnie Palm.

No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. Limit Up On Purchase Of Bonds

Local Group Pushes Security Loan

The limit on amount of Series E Savings Bonds any local resident can buy during the calendar year has been increased from $5,000 to $10,000. Judge William Radcliff, chairman of the Pickaway County Security Loan Campaign, pointed out Wednesday.

Judge Radcliff said the doubling of the Series E Bond limit is serving as an extra incentive to the local campaign organization of volunteers to sell the greatest amount of savings bonds locally in any three-month period since the end of the war.

The local drive chairman said that the Security Loan Campaign started quietly in April and was to have been concluded June 30. However, the drive deadline is being extended to July 1.

Judge Radcliff reported that between April 1 and May 15, Pickaway counties bought $94,234 worth of bonds in Series E, F and G. This figure, he said, represented 24.7 percent of the county's quota set by the U. S. Treasury department.

WITH THE extension of time and a definite campaign now underway, the local drive chiefs believe the county will more than top its quota, Judge Radcliff said.

"Local residents with funds to invest now have the opportunity to take advantage of a safe, profitable investment to an extent never before available," he asserted. "The Series E Savings Bond pays $4 for every $3 in any 10 years. The investor can never get back one penny less than his original investment. Even if his bonds go astray, the Treasury department will issue new bonds bearing the original date of purchase."

"How many other forms of investment can we think of today which would give the investor $10,000 back for $7,500 invested in 10 years without any risk to the original capital involved. In fact, $7,500 put into Series E Bonds today, undoubtedly, will bring even a richer return because we can look forward to the time when the dollar will have greater purchasing power."

"Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder announced the doubling on the layout of Series E Bonds Americans can buy in any one calendar year on the eve of the Security Loan."

"Wise investors all over the country, who were waiting just for such an action by the Treasury department, are buying their limit to assure themselves of security 10 years hence."

"I have urged every one of our volunteers to call upon business people, professional men and women, individuals who have the means to buy more Savings Bonds to call the Treasury's action in raising the limit on E Bonds to $10,000 in any one calendar year to their attention. In these crowded days it is likely many local residents have overlooked the Treasury's announcement. Local banks are ready to assist residents to buy their full share of Series E Bonds."

Women Seeking New Proportion

TOLEDO, May 26—The Ohio League of Women Voters opened its 21st annual state convention here last night with a discussion on the subject, "The New President Looks at the National Convention."

Mrs. Harold D. Peterson, Youngstown state director, said that the main problem which will come before the women's convention will be modernization of Ohio's constitution to provide for reappointment in the general assembly.

She suggested that the league launch a program of education to inform voters of unjust representation in the present Ohio house of representatives. She pointed out that the seven most populous counties in the state which have 50 percent of the population have only 30 percent of the representatives.

Electrician Says Fire Signals About Completed

Fourteen of the 26 Circleville fire alarm boxes, contracted to be rebuilt on Dec. 1, 1947, were ready for installation Wednesday.

James Moffitt, Circleville electrician who contracted to rebuild the boxes, said he and his men had completely finished 14 of the total, and that the rest of the boxes would probably be ready within two weeks.

Moffitt said that the parts and other equipment needed to restore the boxes in working shape had finally started coming in, and that he expected to be through with the signals "soon."

Leonard S. Lytle, Circleville electrical contractor who was assigned the duties of stringing new wire in the system and installing the boxes, has completed all the wiring, and is expected to have the boxes up as soon as they come from the Moffitt shop.

apparatus that is expected to reliable transmit signals.

Moffitt gave several of the signals a test after their completion, each functioning as perfectly as they did on March 1, 1897, when the late Fire Chief Mark Baer set off the first trial alarm.

No date has yet been set for the first official trial of the boxes, but the approaching day is viewed with much concern by those who work in City Hall.

The reason for their concern is that the fire bell quite a large brass fixture, is situated on top of the building, and whenever the signals are given the bell reportedly threatens to vibrate from its unstable supports down through the building.

Limit Up On Purchase Of Bonds

Local Group Pushes Security Loan

The limit on amount of Series E Savings Bonds any local resident can buy during the calendar year has been increased from $5,000 to $10,000. Judge William Radcliff, chairman of the Pickaway County Security Loan Campaign, pointed out Wednesday.

Judge Radcliff said the doubling of the Series E Bond limit is serving as an extra incentive to the local campaign organization of volunteers to sell the greatest amount of savings bonds locally in any three-month period since the end of the war.

The local drive chairman said that the Security Loan Campaign started quietly in April and was to have been concluded June 30. However, the drive deadline is being extended to July 1.

Judge Radcliff reported that between April 1 and May 15, Pickaway residents bought $94,234 worth of bonds in Series E, F and G. This figure, he said, represented 24.7 percent of the county's quota set by the U. S. Treasury department.

WITH THE extension of time and a definite campaign now underway, the local drive chiefs believe the county will more than top its quota, Judge Radcliff said.

"Local residents with funds to invest now have the opportunity to take advantage of a safe, profitable investment to an extent never before available," he asserted. "The Series E Savings Bond pays $4 for every $3 in any 10 years. The investor can never get back one penny less than his original investment. Even if his bonds go astray, the Treasury department will issue new bonds bearing the original date of purchase."

"How many other forms of investment can we think of today which would give the investor $10,000 back for $7,500 invested in 10 years without any risk to the original capital involved. In fact, $7,500 put into Series E Bonds today, undoubtedly, will bring even a richer return because we can look forward to the time when the dollar will have greater purchasing power."

"Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder announced the doubling of the limit of Series E Bonds Americans can buy in any one calendar year on the eve of the Security Loan."

"Wise investors all over the country, who were waiting just for such an action by the Treasury department, are buying their limit to assure themselves of security 10 years hence."

"I have urged every one of our volunteers to call upon business people, professional men and women, individuals who have the means to buy more Savings Bonds to call the Treasury's action in raising the limit on E Bonds to $10,000 in any one calendar year to their attention. In these crowded days it is likely many local residents have overlooked the Treasury's announcement. Local banks are ready to assist residents to buy their full share of Series E Bonds."

Women Seeking New Proportion

TOLEDO, May 26—The Ohio League of Women Voters opened its 21st annual state convention here last night with a discussion on the subject, "The New Presidential Looks at the National Convention."

Mrs. Harold D. Peterson, Youngstown state director, said that the main problem which will come before the women's convention will be modernization of Ohio's constitution to provide for reappointment in the general assembly.

She suggested that the league launch a program of education to inform voters of unjust representation in the present Ohio house of representatives. She pointed out that the seven most populous counties in the state which have 50 percent of the population have only 30 percent of the representatives.

Lad, 16, Stabbed Fatally By Gang

CLEVELAND, May 26—A 16-year-old Cleveland youth was stabbed to death and his 18-year-old companion wounded several times in a fight early today with an east side gang known as "The Phantoms."

Walter Hemphill was pronounced dead on arrival at Charity hospital. Henry Evans was treated for minor wounds and released.

Hospital authorities said Hemphill apparently was stabbed several times about the body and his heart had been pierced in the fight between the two youths and the gang.

Police reportedly were hunting the 17-year-old leader of the gang, the alleged knife-wielder, along with 15 other juveniles believed involved in the fight.

Electrician Says Fire Signals About Completed

Fourteen of the 26 Circleville fire alarm boxes, contracted to be rebuilt on Dec. 1, 1947, were ready for installation Wednesday.

James Moffitt, Circleville electrician who contracted to rebuild the boxes, said he and his men had completely finished 14 of the total, and that the rest of the boxes would probably be ready within two weeks.

Moffitt said that the parts and other equipment needed to restore the boxes in working shape had finally started coming in, and that he expected to be through with the signals "soon".

Leonard S. Lytle, Circleville electrical contractor who was assigned the duties of stringing new wire in the system and installing the boxes, has completed all the wiring, and is expected to have the boxes up as soon as they come from the Moffitt shop.

THE BOXES themselves have been given a "new look" under Moffitt's supervision, changing from dull and dirty useless mechanisms given him into new apparatus that is expected to reliable transmit signals.

Moffitt gave several of the signals a test after their completion, each functioning as perfectly as they did on March 1, 1897, when the late Fire Chief Mark Baer set off the first trial alarm.

No date has yet been set for the first official trial of the boxes, but the approaching day is viewed with much concern by those who work in City Hall.

The reason for their concern is that the fire bell quite a large brass fixture, is situated on top of the building, and whenever the signals are given the bell reportedly threatens to vibrate from its unstable supports down through the building.

21 Million More Mouths To Be Fed

Economists Look Ahead To 1975

COLUMBUS, May 26—Ohio city residents who have a hearty appetite in 1975 will be buying food in competition with about 21,000,000 more people in the U. S. than are shopping for food in 1948, is the prophecy of the U. S. Census Bureau.

To produce food for that many people, U. S. farmers will have to find the equivalent of 53,000,000 more acres of cropland in a nation where almost all the good farm land now is being cropped.

Rural economists at Ohio State university point out that the job of locating that amount of cropland is about the same as finding four times the total area now being tilled in Ohio. The economists say there are large idle areas of good land without water, some fertile soils could be found in sections where there is plenty of water but also late spring frosts and early fall freezes, but only fractions of the total good land area needed are idle now.

FARM MANAGEMENT specialists at the university declare most of the extra food must come from land now being cultivated. They say better farming methods, better crop varieties and improved livestock, and more liberal use of lime and fertilizer will greatly increase the number of food units one farmer can produce.

Rural economists expect there will be a smaller percentage of the total U. S. population on farms in 1975 than the 19 percent which now makes up the total rural population. The task of every farmer in 1975 will be to feed himself and family and to produce enough extra food to meet the demands of six or more persons living in towns or cities.

Two possible sources of food for the domestic market are the 24,000,000 acres which produced food for export in 1940-44 and the 27,000,000 acres which will be released by replacement of horses and mules with tractors in the next 25 years.

OSU rural economists are not expecting a race of people with smaller waistlines in this nation in 1975. The economists look at past records and find that farmers in this country always have kept the nation's food shelves filled and, in most years, have provided a surplus for export.

Warren Winner In Florida Race

MIAMI, May 26—Fuller Warren, Jacksonville attorney who began his political career as a state representative when he was 21, attained a long-sought goal today by winning the Democratic run-off race for governor of Florida.

The 42-year-old lawyer surged from behind spectacularly to overcome Dan McCarthy's early lead and went on to defeat the youthful Fort Pierce citrus grower-cattleman by a substantial margin.

The trend followed the same pattern set in the first primary on May 4 in which the two World War II veterans topped a nine-man field.

Coronado's Expedition, in 1840, was the first white visitors to what is now the state of Utah.

PTA Meets Ends On Note Of Hope For World Peace

CLEVELAND, May 26—The 51st convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers closes here today on a note of hope for future world peace and understanding.

Dr. Herman Finer, professor of political science at Chicago university, last night presented the congress a formula for a free world based on "The Four C's of consciousness, coherence, constancy and conscience."

Speaking on the subject, "How To Live Within a Family of Nations," Dr. Finer termed nationalism "a tough nut which must be cracked."

He maintained that nationalism is a menace when carried to extremes. He declared:

"This is the route of a veto, of a conflict between nations. Man is not born free; he is born national."

He stated it is impossible to arrive at "a common ethic because there is no common government in the United Nations."

Dr. Finer held that the United States alone "holds the key to peace, war, justice or injustice."

Public Housing Bill OK Seen

COLUMBUS, May 26—Columbus realtors faced today's problems with the cold assurance from U. S. Sen. Harry P. Cain, (R) Me., that this session of Congress will pass some form of public housing bill.

Cain told the Realtors' Educational Clinic he was opposed to the public housing section of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill because:

"Public housing is not a housing problem, but a social and welfare problem and should be dealt with in that manner."

He also said the majority of people in public housing units are not dependent on that type of housing.

Pastor Salaries Being Eyed By Methodist Meet

COLUMBUS, May 26—Approximately 1,100 delegates to the Ohio annual conference of the Methodist church headed into their business sessions today with groundwork laid for a thorough study of ministerial salaries.

Principal speaker this afternoon was to be Dr. Harold A. Bosley, dean of the Duke university divinity school. Arthur S. Flemming, member of the U. S. Civil Service Commission in Washington, will speak this evening.

A conference cabinet picked four of its members to name four ministers and eight laymen to a salary study committee which is to hold its first meeting before Oct. 15 and to meet at least monthly thereafter.

The committee, in line with policy established at the recent general church conference at Boston, will study such ways of solving the salary problem as minimums, salary equalization or payment for all from a single pool.

Prof. Rockwell C. Smith of Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Ill., told the delegates that the rapidly growing, rural communities are plagued with many problems usually associated only with big cities.

He said that in rural Ohio the infant death rate is 46.2 per 1,000, while the state average is only 41.4 per 1,000.

Pastor Salaries Being Eyed By Methodist Meet

COLUMBUS, May 26—Approximately 1,100 delegates to the Ohio annual conference of the Methodist church headed into their business sessions today with groundwork laid for a thorough study of ministerial salaries.

Principal speaker this afternoon was to be Dr. Harold A. Bosley, dean of the Duke university divinity school. Arthur S. Flemming, member of the U. S. Civil Service Commission in Washington, will speak this evening.

A conference cabinet picked four of its members to name

four ministers and eight laymen to a salary study committee which is to hold its first meeting before Oct. 15 and to meet at least monthly thereafter.

The committee, in line with policy established at the recent general church conference at Boston, will study such ways of solving the salary problem as minimums, salary equalization or payment for all from a single pool.

Prof. Rockwell C. Smith of Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Ill., told the delegates that the rapidly growing, rural communities are plagued with many problems usually associated only with big cities.

He said that in rural Ohio the infant death rate is 46.2 per 1,000, while the state average is only 41.4 per 1,000.

A new hit tune, "A Bed of Roses," receives smooth vocal treatment from Andy Russell, backed up by Ray Sinagra's orchestra, as the high-gated musical variety feature, "The All Star Revue," swings out over Mutual Thursday at 9:30 p. m.

Not to be outdone, Marion Hutton offers the glad news, "I'm In Love." The novelty Pied Pipers vocal group rounds out the show with another of their lyrical creations.

Eleanor Powell, whose twinkle-toed tap dancing carried her to fame through films, will reveal her steps to success when she makes a guest appearance on Mutual's "Background For Stardom" broadcast Thursday at 9:45 p. m.

Miss Powell will introduce a dramatization based on a turning point incident in her life, and Hollywood reporter Erskine Johnson will be the narrator.

Musical director Paul Lavalle will lead the Cities Service ensemble in the stirring "Battle Hymn of the Republic" on "Highways in Melody," starring baritone Mac Morgan on Friday at 8 p. m., over NBC.

This broadcast will be the last performance of "Highways in Melody" on the Cities Service program which, on and after June 4, will feature "Band of America," starring 48 brass band instrumentalists and conducted by Mr. Lavalle.

"Battle Hymn of the Republic" was the rallying cry of Northern forces during the Civil War as "Dixie" was for troops from below the Mason-Dixon line. Even as "Dixie" was penned by a Northerner, a Southern song-writer, William Steffe, composed the music of "Battle Hymn" for which Mrs. Julia Ward Howe wrote the words.

Pickaway County Farmers Reminded Of Soil Conservation Contests

Farmers in Pickaway County who are completing their crop plans for this year were reminded Wednesday of the 1948 soil conservation contest which closes Oct. 1.

Each year the contest is sponsored by the agriculture extension service, soil conservation service and Baltimore and Ohio railroad. L. A. Best, Pickaway County agriculture agent revealed.

Purpose of the program is to encourage farmers to conserve all national resources on their farms by adopting a sound soil, water and forest conservation plan.

Competition will include two classes of farmers:

(1) Those whose conservation farm plans were begun prior to Oct. 1, 1947, and

(2) Farmers who established

soil conservation practices on or after that date.

BEST HAD this to say of the program:

"Conservation is a popular word these days and is quite often misunderstood or misused."

"Conservation farming is nothing more than good farming or the use of sound farm management practices in the farming operation."

"Most farmers," Best said, "pride themselves in having a good farm, and a good farm is the result of wise use of the land. Good farming does not cost, it pays," the county agent declared.

Awards of $50 and $25 U. S. savings bonds will be made to first and second place winners in the two-class competition. One of the two first place winners then will be chosen to represent Ohio for B and O systemwide championship.

William Redman of Zanesville, Muskingum County, was the 1947 winner of the systemwide contest and was awarded a certificate of achievement and a carload of kiln-dried agriculture limestone.

Entries must be received not later than Oct. 1. Blanks may be obtained from the county agent's office or soil conservation office.

Work Hazard OK'd By Bureau

COLUMBUS, May 26—A discharge arising from the refusal to work under hazardous conditions qualifies a person to draw unemployment benefits.

The board of review for the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation ruled today that a driver who declined to operate a delivery car over slippery Cleveland streets could collect benefits.

The board held that the messenger was fired without just cause since weather conditions had created an increased hazard beyond that normally encountered on his job.

Girl, 8, Her Ear Are Back Together Again

ST. LOUIS, May 26—Eight-year-old Carolyn Niedringhaus and her left ear are back together today.

He died Monday, fighting to keep his poems from the eyes of the guards who were to make him a free man.

Warden L. Clark Schilder said the bulge in Anderson's clothing that started the trouble was made up only of love poems, and odes and sonnets to Spring.

Meanwhile, Dr. Jesse Harris, head of the prison medical staff, and Dr. Nicholas Holmes of Chillicothe were expected to return a verdict today on the cause of Anderson's death.

He was leaving the reformatory after serving a sentence for parole breaking when four guards tried to search him. He died in the struggle.

Legumes Open Soil To Aid, Water, Claim

Tight "stuffy" soils are robbing many farmers of high bushel-per-acre yields of corn and small grains each year. Loams, silt loams and clay loams need large amounts of organic matter in the plow layer and deeper to keep them open and loose for high crop production.

Heavy soils that are low in organic matter and worked with heavy tractors and machinery become packed, especially just below the plow sole.

These compactions slow down the intake of water. They cut down the amount of water and air the soil will hold for crop use. They keep the fibrous roots of corn and small grain "upstairs" away from water and plant food held deeper in the soil.

Temporary relief can be had by using machines that reach below the ordinary plow layer and break up the plow sole compactions.

REAL RELIEF, however, comes only through regular use of deep-rooted legumes in the rotation.

The driving tap roots of sweet clover and alfalfa force their way through the compactions and reach deep into the soil, thus opening it to air and water. The mineralized organic matter they leave there improves soil tilth and furnished plant food for other crops.

Channels of the tap roots are routes for water and air and fibrous roots to follow deep into the soil. Compaction-busting alfalfa and sweet clover need phosphate and potash if they are to do a good job.

Writ Denied

YOUNGSTOWN, May 26—The first round of a fight by Youngstown parents of pupils at Deason school to prevent closing of the school to make way for a modernization program was lost today. Judge John W. Ford denied a temporary restraining order yesterday to prevent the closing of the school.

Pickaway County Farmers Reminded Of Soil Conservation Contests

Farmers in Pickaway County who are completing their crop plans for this year were reminded Wednesday of the 1948 soil conservation contest which closes Oct. 1.

Each year the contest is sponsored by the agriculture extension service, soil conservation service and Baltimore and Ohio railroad. L. A. Best, Pickaway County agriculture agent revealed.

Purpose of the program is to encourage farmers to conserve all national resources on their farms by adopting a sound soil, water and forest conservation plan.

Competition will include two classes of farmers:

(1) Those whose conservation farm plans were begun prior to Oct. 1, 1947, and

(2) Farmers who established

soil conservation practices on or after that date.

BEST HAD this to say of the program:

"Conservation is a popular word these days and is quite often misunderstood or misused."

"Conservation farming is nothing more than good farming or the use of sound farm management practices in the farming operation."

"Most farmers," Best said,

"pride themselves in having a good farm, and a good farm is the result of wise use of the land. Good farming does not cost, it pays," the county agent declared.

Awards of $50 and $25 U. S.

savings bonds will be made to first and second place winners in the two-class competition.

One of the two first place winners then will be chosen to represent Ohio for Band O

systemwide championship.

William Redman of Zanesville, Muskingum County, was the 1947 winner of the system-wide contest and was awarded a certificate of achievement and a carload of kiln-dried agriculture limestone.

Entries must be received not later than Oct. 1. Blanks may be obtained from the county

agent's office or soil conservation office.

Work Hazard OK'd By Bureau

COLUMBUS, May 26—A discharge arising from the refusal to work under hazardous conditions qualifies a person to draw unemployment benefits.

The board of review for the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation ruled today that a driver who declined to operate a delivery car over slippery Cleveland streets could collect benefits.

The board held that the messenger was fired without just cause since weather conditions had created an increased hazard beyond that normally encountered on his job.

Girl, 8, Her Ear Are Back Together Again

ST. LOUIS, May 26—Eight-year-old Carolyn Niedringhaus and her left ear are back together today.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee I. Niedringhaus of suburban LaDue, had part of the ear nipped off by a horse at the St. Louis Country Club. She was waiting for a mount and wandered near the stall of a mare and its new-born colt. The mare lunged at the girl and snapped her ear.

Carolyn was rushed to a hospital, where a surgeon asked for the severed part of her ear. A search of the stable produced it and it was sewed back on—two hours after it was bitten off.

Careful plastic surgery is expected to make the scar virtually unnoticeable.

Parmesan cheese is made in Italy. Its makers test its maturity by rapping its sides with a small mallet, and claim that they can tell from the sound the degree of ripeness the cheese has attained.

Dead Convict's Record Cleared

CHILLICOTHE, May 26—Earl Anderson, 21-year-old paroled convict was cleared today of trying to smuggle coded messages past the guards at the federal reformatory here.

He died Monday, fighting to keep his poems from the eyes of the guards who were to make him a free man.

Warden L. Clark Schilder said the bulge in Anderson's clothing that started the trouble was made up only of love poems, and odes and sonnets to Spring.

Meanwhile, Dr. Jesse Harris, head of the prison medical staff, and Dr. Nicholas Holmes of Chillicothe were expected to return a verdict today on the cause of Anderson's death.

He was leaving the reformatory after serving a sentence for parole breaking when four guards tried to search him. He died in the struggle.
